

Photo: Luca Peruzzi

Maritime operations require multirole naval gun systems capable of dealing with multiple threats. Page 34

Image: Damen

MKS 180 constitutes the largest-ever naval procurement effort of the German Navy. Page 49

MARITIME POLICY & STRATEGY

- 7 A Chronic or Acute Disease?
The Current Maritime Relationship in the Eastern Mediterranean
Korhan Özkilinc

NAVAL FORCES IN REVIEW

- 10 Numerous Challenges for the Peruvian Navy's Cyber Command
Interview with Rear-Admiral Enrique Arnáez, Commander Cyber Defence Command of the Peruvian Navy

WARSHIP DESIGN & PROCUREMENT

- 15 The BONIFAZ Class Frigate (F-110) – the Future Backbone of the Spanish Armada
Esteban Villarejo
- 18 SITREP: TAMANDARÉ Class Corvettes for Brazil
Jack Richardson

NAVAL SYSTEMS & EQUIPMENT

- 20 Counter-Mine Capabilities in Europe
Jack Richardson
- 24 Naval Interceptors
Arie Egozi
- 28 Powering the Modern Warship
Doug Richardson
- 34 Naval Gun Systems from Europe
Luca Peruzzi
- 39 CBRN Defence and Navies
Dan Kaszeta

MARITIME INDUSTRY & COMMERCE

- 43 European Submarine Builders
Bob Nugent

- 49 Consolidation Potential of European Naval Shipbuilding
Dieter Hanel
- 55 Consolidation of the Maritime Industry in Northern Europe
Jaime Karreman
- 60 Southern European Navies and Naval Projects
Luca Peruzzi

COLUMNS

- 1 Editorial
- 4 Periscope
- 14 Masthead

Index of Advertisers

Aselsan	33
DNV GL	29
Forcit	23
GA-ASI	3
German Naval Yards	51
Hagenuk Marinekommunikation	47
IMMH	58
Koehler	19, 57, 3 rd cover
Leonardo	4 th cover
Lürssen	2 nd cover
Saab	59
SMM	42
Systematic	9
thyssenkrupp Marine Systems	45
Weibel	53